Building a Physics Engine for Greenfoot Games

Joshua Redpath
Advisor: Karen Villaverde
Computer Science Department
New Mexico State University

In this talk we show the progress made in building a physics engine to be used to develop games built with the Greenfoot game engine. Currently, the Greenfoot game engine does not have a physics engine. A game which uses the physics engine developed so far will be demo.